CDSA Montessori Parent shares.....

I am a busy attorney and protective first time mom of a 15 month old little boy. After developing some concerns over my son's previous daycare, I started researching and touring other options. We had visited numerous places, but within moments of our tour at Country Day, we knew it was the right place for us. We've never regretted the decision to move and our expectations are continuously exceeded.

My son is hearing impaired, so it was of paramount importance that his teachers be cognizant of his speech development and the extra attention he requires due to his hearing aids. As a parent of a child who has some extra needs, it's an unfortunate fear that some caregivers may perceive your child as a burden. This has never been the case at Country Day- he was warmly welcome from day one. They are interested in his development, ask appropriate questions and welcome and are engaging with his speech therapist.

Simply put, Country Day is in a different league. The facility is immaculate, the directors are professional and the teachers are refined and care for the children as their own. Not only am I confident that my son is safe and well looked after, I know that he is being enriched and a strong foundation is being set for his future.
